Board of Managers

President	Dr. T. W. Hester
Vice President	Joseph McCracken
Secretary	H. M. Hoskins
Treasurer	Oliver Weesner

THE success of Pacific College is due in a large degree to its efficient Board of Managers. This board determines the policies of the college and is responsible for its affairs in general. It acts as the policy forming body, elects the members of the faculty, takes charge of the college finances, and confers degrees. In order to carry out the purpose of the organization, the board is divided into five committees, namely: executive, faculty and officers, buildings and grounds, museum and library, and finance.

This controlling body is composed of 15 members divided into three classes, each serving three years. All members are elected by the College Corporation, but six are nominated by the board itself, six others by the Permanent Board of Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends, and the remaining three by the Alumni Association.

Executive Council

STUDENT government at Pacific College is conducted by the Associated Student Body. During the past year the affairs of this group have been carried on under the able leadership of Victor Morse, president.

This group acts as the legislative body and conducts the general business of the campus and in addition carries on much of the social life of the school. This organization is responsible for the annual Homecoming Day and the biennial May Day. Under its direction an active forensics program, as well as dramatic activities, are participated in. It also plans for such social events as the Hallowe'en Masquerade. In general its task is to promote a unity of thought and purpose among the students. It seeks to encourage a friendly and democratic attitude on the campus.

The central executive council has completed a year of successful activities.

The officers were: President, Victor Morse; Vice President, Peggy Otis; Secretary, Marjorie Miller; Treasurer, Harold Roberts, who was later replaced by Stanley Keller when it was necessary for Mr. Roberts to leave college.

Seniors

IN the fall of 1934, one of the largest freshman classes in the history of Pacific College was enrolled. The class upheld the established tradition by presenting the class play, a three act comedy, "The McMurray Chin." The class was initiated, but not before they flaunted red bows at Chapel instead of the prescribed green. The Sophomore-Freshman picnic was held at Avalon Park. Through a cash donation as its school gift, the first publication of the L'Ami was made possible. Lewis Hoskins was president.

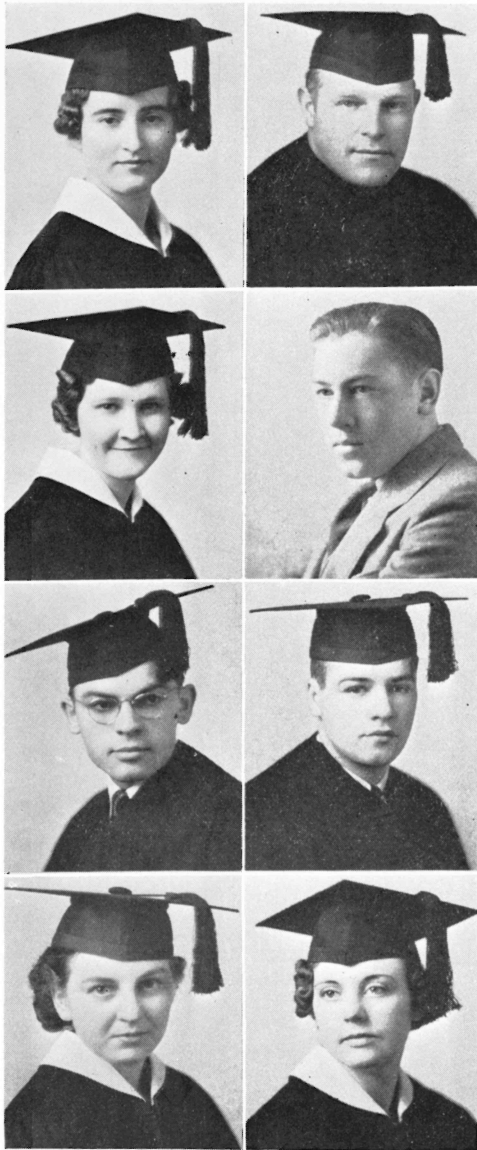

As Sophomores, led by Louis Coffin, the class initiated the Freshmen and then entertained them at a "wienie roast." This courtesy was rewarded later in the year by the annual picnic. A St. Patrick's party was held at the home of Marjorie Miller with a scavenger hunt furnishing the entertainment. The class was awarded the plaque offered by the seniors to the most outstanding class.

During the Junior year, the class was again awarded the citizenship plaque. The class sold school pennants and presented a gavel and stationery to the Student Body. A circus program was given in Chapel and several popcorn and candy sales were held to earn money for the Junior-Senior Banquet, an event of April 30, for which a Hawaiian theme was used. The class decorated for all commencement functions. A scavenger party was held in the fall, guests assembling afterwards at the home of the president, Peggy Jane Otis. A tobogganing party was also enjoyed in midwinter.

The Senior year found the class much smaller than before, but undaunted, they launched into their class activities. The Seniors won the prize for the best group at the Halloween party, being dressed in costumes from all nations. In order to increase school spirit, Bruin Junior was made and presented to the Student Body to be used as an award for all pep contests. The Senior sneak was held April 15, the class going to Nelscott. The class night play was presented.

Class officers are: president, Lewis Hoskins; vice-president, Dorothy Martin; secretary, Maisie Burt; treasurer, Arney Houser.

This class has been noted for its activities and industry. School traditions have been fulfilled and instigated. Eight of its members are graduates of Newberg Union High School. The class rings and pins were first worn immediately after Christmas vacation.

Juniors

IN the fall of 1935, forty-four freshmen entered Pacific College. After being duly initiated into the school by the sophomores they took their place in the affairs and activities of the school.

Durng their freshman year the class successfully presented a three-act comedy "The Millionaire," by Juliet Tompkins. In the spring the class entertained the sophomores with a picnic party. That year Wayne Burt was president of the rooks.

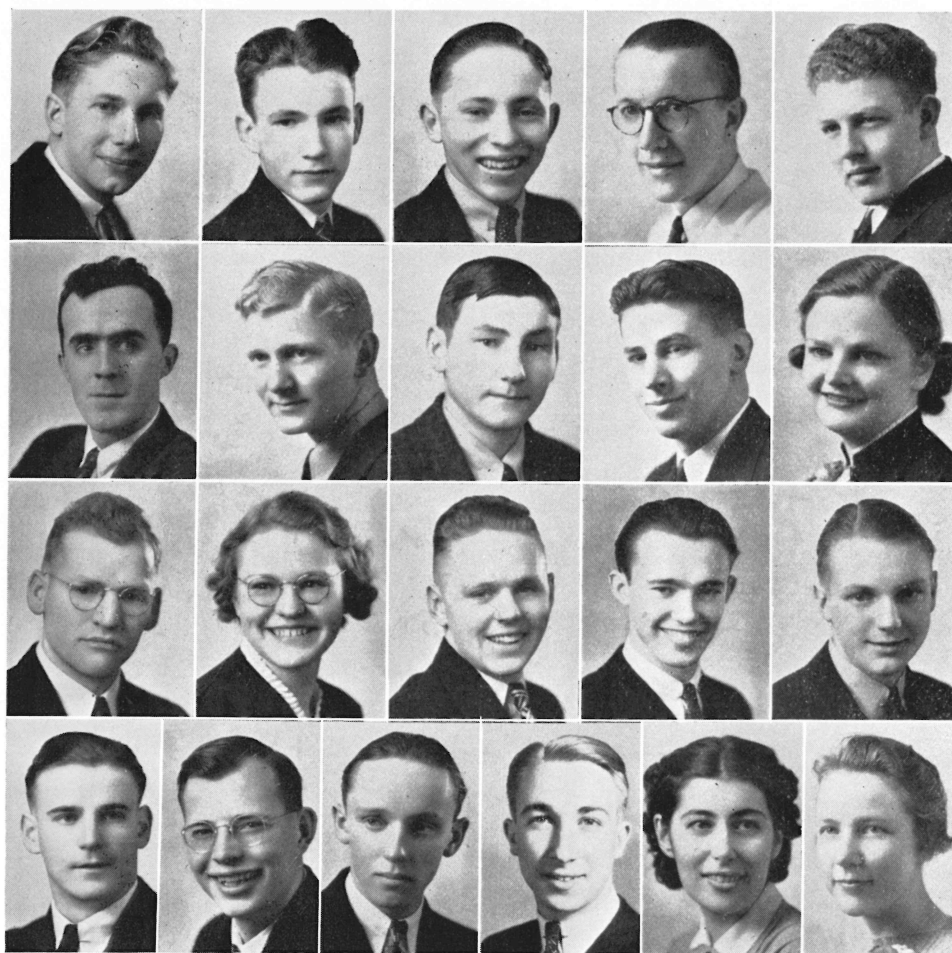

At the beginning of their sophomore year, the class thoroughly introduced the freshmen to the school by initiating them in a remote vicinity of Newberg. The class gift to the school, seat-back racks for the new song books purchased that year by the student body, was given during their sophomore year. Verle Emry served as class president.

This year the junior class has been active in school sports and activities, having competed in pep contests and sold souvenirs at Homecoming. Members of the class have also been active in debate and dramatics. A candy making party was held at the home of Gloria Kendall last fall. At present, plans are being made for the annual Junior-Senior banquet.

Class officers are: president, Helen Schmeltzer; vice-president, Ivan Makinster; secretary, Reola Symons; and treasurer, Alfred Boyer.

Sophomores

LAST year the class of '40 entered Pacific College, a lively group of twenty-eight freshmen with Jack Bennett as president. One of the first adventures this class had was the Freshman Initiation by the class of '39 in a Student Chapel and later at a wiener roast held on Chehalem Mountain.

A Booth Tarkington Comedy, "Clarence," the story of a soldier who drove mules was enthusiastically received in March. Under the leadership of Robert Sieloff the freshmen edited the annual edition of the Crescent. In the late spring the Sophomores were entertained at the annual Sophomore-Freshman picnic.

Early in the fall of 1937 the class of '40 duly initiated the Rooks—in a very muddy college canyon. This year the class of '40 has been well represented in school activities, having participated in the student body plays, the Christian associations, varsity football, basketball and baseball, as well as other college organizations.

In April the class had a party in the form of a Scavenger Hunt.

The class affairs have been guided by the following officers: president, Leroy Pierson; vice-president, Ladean Martin; secretary, Alfreda Martin; treasurer, Ruth Hodson.

Freshmen

THE class of '41 entered Pacific's halls last fall with twenty-five members. All year long the freshmen have been doing things.

At our first meeting we selected the following officers for the year: president, Earl Eastman; secretary-treasurer, Margaret Lou Parker.

According to custom, the Sophomores, with the assistance of the "Gold P" club, attempted to intimidate the rooks, but they found, that the Freshmen were rather unwilling to "go forth as sheep to the slaughter." However, they did have a good time and, in return, gave the Sophomores a picnic.

Several of the men in the Freshman class turned in fine records in athletics. Almost half of the letters earned during the year went to Freshmen. We are proud of their records.

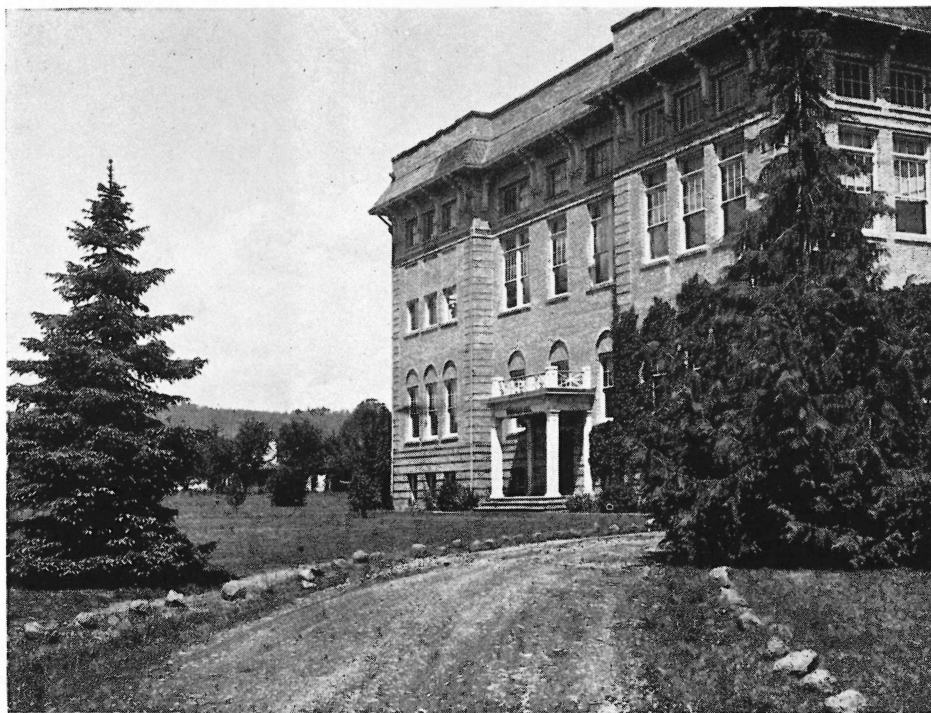

The annual Freshman edition of the Crescent was published just before the class presented its three-act mystery-comedy, "Oh Kay," late in March. The play was very successful, and the sincere gratitude of the class is extended to the director, Miss Lois McCurley.

Football, basketball, baseball, golf, tennis, and volleyball are all included in the varied activities of the Freshmen. Sports alone do not occupy the attention of the class. Members of the class have acted in several plays, presented an "Amateur Hour" in chapel, and been elected to numerous offices in the student organizations.

The demise of "Mr. Smith," the ragdoll, was witnessed and participated in by certain of the rooks. When his successor, "Bruin Jr." was created the Freshmen scored another triumph. With the exception of one Friday when Bruin was captured by another class, the rooks have escorted Bruin to the campus, and then spirited him away again every third Friday. They have had great fun planning and plotting about Bruin, and have succeeded in holding him against all comers, until Bruin was finally awarded to the Sophomores.

Pacific College

PACIFIC College maintained by the Society of Friends (Quakers) of Oregon Yearly Meeting, is a Christian college whose purpose from its very existence has been "a liberal education, under the best Christian influence, at a minimum of expense."

Pacific College is exclusively a college of liberal arts and sciences. It has no preparatory department and undertakes to do no graduate work. It confines its task definitely to four years of undergraduate work leading to the bachelor's degree. While seeking to promote general culture and to aid its students toward the development of sound, strong character, versatility and adaptability to the changing conditions of life, it aims also to give adequate fundamental preparation for advanced courses in special fields such as medicine, law, engineering, journalism, the ministry, education, and others.

The buildings and equipment of the college consists of five buildings, two dormitories, Administration building, Chemistry building, and Gymnasium. These are placed on twenty-eight acres of beautifully wooded land. It is here that a student may lead an active life.

International Relations Club

THE International Relations club is composed of a group of students who are especially interested in the study of current problems of international scope. Problems of peace and war, with especial emphasis on the various tension areas occupy most of the discussion periods.

The local club is affiliated with the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace and thus receives several books of outstanding merit on world problems each year. These books are kept in the special section of the college library which has been erected by the club for the use of the entire student body.

Perhaps the main project of the club during the past year was the presentation of a thirty minute radio broadcast over station KOAC. Music and a round-table discussion of the crisis in the Far East composed the broadcast.

Several members of the club were delegates to a conference of International Relations clubs of the Pacific Northwest held at Reed college in the spring.

Speakers, information and literature are furnished by the club to school and community clubs. Projects in peace education are sponsored by this group throughout the year.

The club has been under the leadership of Lewis Hoskins, president; Maisie Burt, vice-president; and Professor Chase Conover, advisor, for the past school year.

Crescent

THE Crescent, the bi-weekly publication of the student body of Pacific College, is prepared by a staff of elective and appointive officers. The elective officers for the past year were: Editor, Maisie Burt; Associate Editor, Helen Schmeltzer; Business Manager, Wayne Tate; Advertising Manager, Robert Sieloff; Circulation Manager, Jean Spaulding.

Some features of the Crescent during the term have been a Freshman edition and a Senior edition put out by those classes, a Who's Who of the class of 1937, a page devoted to sports, spicy bits clipped from other college papers, and numerous other features.

The 1937-38 staff has attempted to include in the pages of the Crescent an all around picture of life at Pacific College, and has tried to promote good-will between students and faculty members of the college and the people of Newberg.

Y. M. C. A.

THE Young Men's Christian Association of Pacific College is a student organization on the Pacific College Campus devoting its will primarily to the mental, spiritual and physical phases of the lives of all young men enrolled in college. The meetings of the association are held during the chapel periods on Wednesday at which time hymn singing, devotion and speakers or discussion groups compose the programs.

Some of the outstanding work of the association has been the maintenance and upkeep of the Y. M. C. A. room and in cooperation with the Y. W. C. A. the distribution of food gift baskets for the needy at Thanksgiving, special programs at Christmas and other occasions. The active spiritual work of the campus is the deputation work of students who conduct services in various churches in the vicinity of Newberg. During the year the association secured as a guest speaker Mr. Paul Braestead, Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement speaking on tour for the National Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. groups.

The year's activities were climaxed by a colorful banquet given by both Christian associations.

The governing body of the Y. M. C. Gold Q Club

THE Gold "Q" Club is an association composed of the women of Pacific College who have won an athletic letter in one major inter-collegiate sport.

The neophytes are formally initiated at the first of every fall semester after carrying out a code of rules prescribed by the club. Membership in the organization does not end with graduation so that each year finds an increase in the number of members.

The outstanding annual affair sponsored by the club is the formal Valentine Day Dinner to which each member invites a gentleman friend.

The badge of the club is a blue beret with the Gold "Q" emblem on it and the insignia is a small, winged Gold "Q" pin.

The purpose of the club is to create good sportsmanship, to further interest in all athletics, to encourage all college activities which advance good school spirit among the students in college and everyday life.

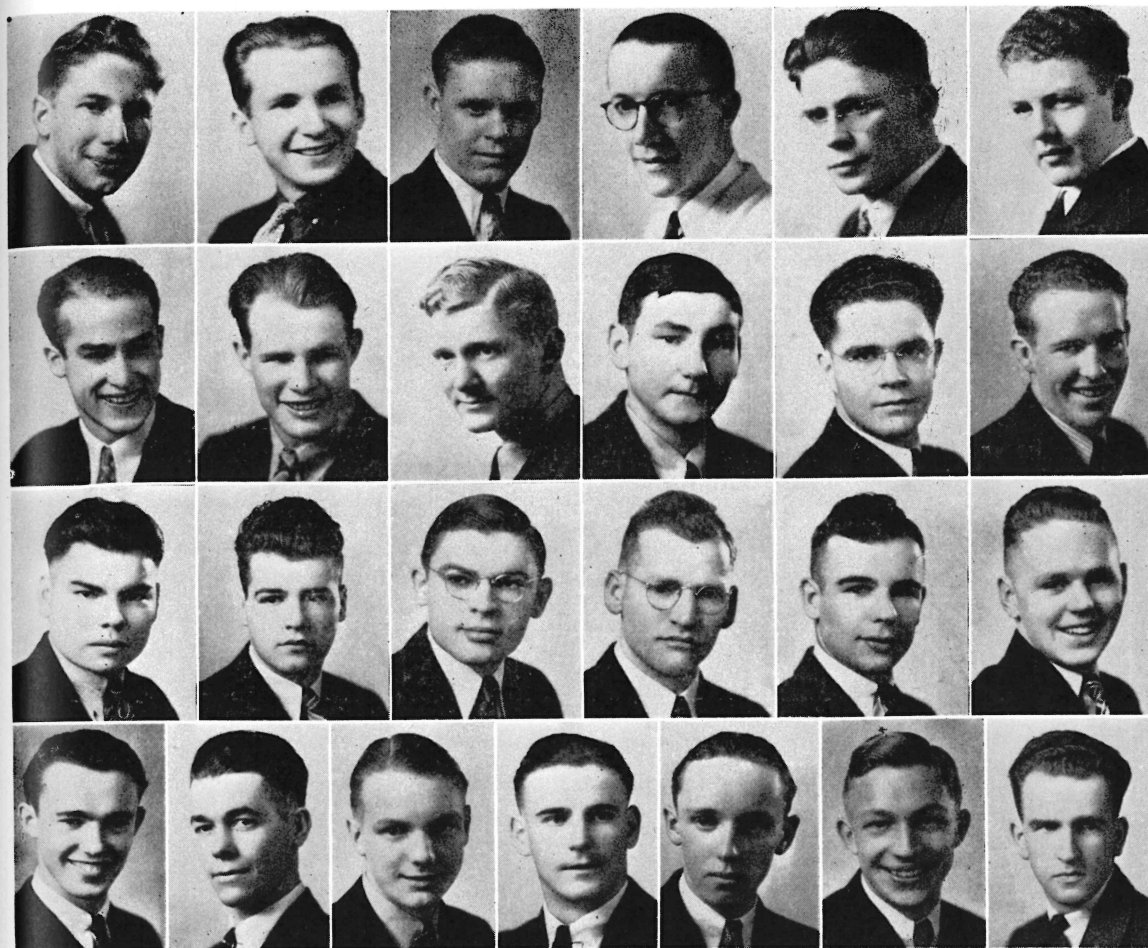

According to the constitution, sportsmanship includes honesty, cheerfulness, enthusiasm, courtesy, graciousness in victory and a real interest in the sport and not in the letter to be earned.

The officers of the Gold "Q" Club are as follows: president, Hazel Williams; vice president, Marjorie Miller; secretary, Gloria Kendall; treasurer, Lucille Barkman; publicity, Lucy Wilson; faculty adviser, Miss Lois McCurley.

Lafayette defeated Beaverton for both A and B consolation honors. Durham received the sportsmanship award. Cups and pennants were awarded for winners of the runner-ups in each division. Certificates were presented to each member of the A and B all-star teams.

Neophytes were initiated into the Gold P Club and the annual club banquet was given near the close of the school year.

May Day

PACIFIC College's fourteenth biennial May Day celebration was held on May 6 with students, alumni and friends gathering on the campus to participate in the events of the day. The happy and smiling Queen Marjorie I ruled graciously throughout the day.

A Spanish theme was effectively carried out and everywhere a spirit of cooperation prevailed and aided in making this May Day one of the most successful.

The first activity of the day was the May Breakfast held in the Y. W. C. A. room. The queen, cardinal and their attendants were present at this.

Tennis matches occupied most of the morning. Both girl's and boy's teams played representative teams from other colleges.

At one o'clock in the afternoon Pacific College's baseball team played against Reed on the college diamond.

Following this a parade was held at three o'clock. Business houses were well represented in this as well as organizations of the college. The queen's gaily decorated float was at the head of the parade.

After the parade the crowd assembled on the South Campus for the coronation of Miss Miller as Queen. Members of the royal party marched across the green lawn to the colorful bower. Flower girl was Gwendolyn Switzer and crown bearer was Hugh Switzer. The attendants of the Queen were Hazel Williams, Corilda Stewart, Janet Jack, and Ruth Coppock. Cardinal Arney Houser's attendants were Victor Morse, Wayne Tate, Wilbur Newby and Wayne Burt.

Ascending the throne the cardinal crowned Miss Miller Queen Marjorie I, after which the Queen spoke a few words to her subjects.

Homage was paid to the court by the alumni, Senior, Sophomore, Junior and Freshman classes.

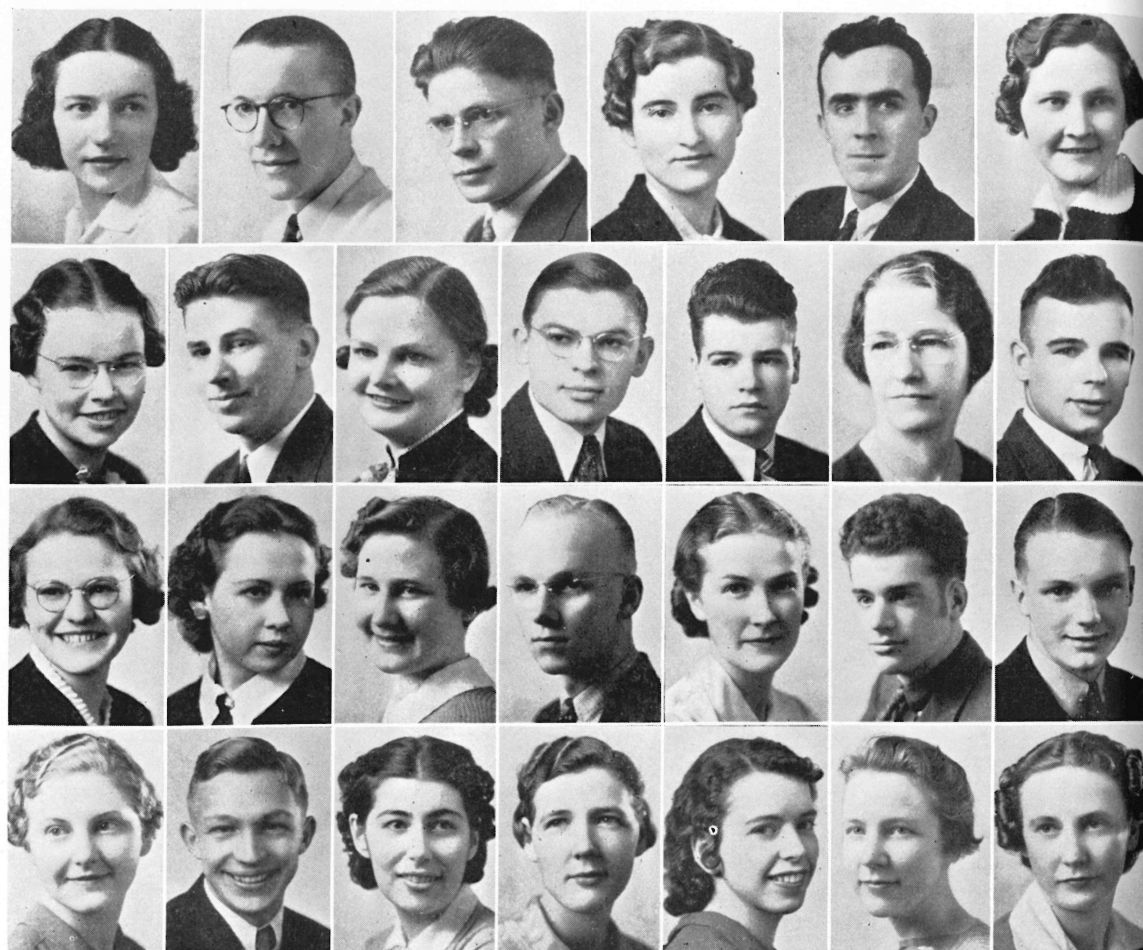

A Spanish dance was then given by eight girls before the royal party. Ribbons were awarded to the prize winning floats in the parade.

The winding of the May Pole concluded the afternoon's performance. This was done by twelve couples.

In the evening the amusing play "Charley's Aunt" was presented to an enthusiastic audience in Wood-Mar Hall.

After this a reception was held in the library in honor of the queen, cardinal, and their attendants.

Much of the success of the day is due to the work of Miss Lois McCurley, who directed the Spanish Dance, the May Pole and the evening play, and also to Helen Schmeltzer who was general chairman. Lewis Hoskins, Leroy Pierson, Gloria Kendall, Ruth Coppock, Wilbur Newby and Audra Johnson were heads of important committees.

Forensics

PACIFIC College closed its third year in Forensics with the Linfield Tournament, which is held every year at Linfield College in McMinnville, where all Northwest colleges meet and debate the Phi Kappa Delta question. This was resolved: That the National Relations Labor Board should be empowered to fix compulsory arbitration in all labor disputes.

The college was represented by Alfred Boyer, Mark Fantetti, Vera Hicks, and Maisie Burt in debate. Both the women and men debated both sides of the question.

Although debate is a major event in the Forensic field it is not the only one in which Pacific College participated. Jack Bennett represented the Alma Mater in the After Dinner Speaking contest; Virginia Heacock in the extemporaneous contest; and Lawrence Balch in the Peace Oratorical contest.

The student body is a member of the Oregon Forensic Association and has one officer in that league, the Vice-President, who was the Forensic Manager of Pacific College for the year 1937-38.

"The Enemy"

THE ENEMY" a stirring drama of the great war was presented, Thursday evening, December 16, as the first student body play of the year.

The play written by Channing Pollock dealt with the insanity of war and very cleverly exposed the profiteers and the real enemy which is a manufactured hate.

Miss Lois McCurley directed all of these plays.

"Oh Kay!"

THE Freshman Class swung into action this year by successfully presenting "Oh Kay," a three act mystery comedy by Adam Applebud, Friday evening, March 25, in Wood-Mar hall.

"Charley's Aunt"

CHARLIE'S AUNT" a three act farce comedy under the direction of Miss Lois McCurley, was presented in Wood-Mar hall, Friday evening, May 6, as a climax to the May Day festival. The play centers around college life and Lord Fancourt Babberly who is tricked into disguising as Charlie's Aunt to help Jack and Charlie entertain their girl friends.

The play, written by Brandon Thomas, had an original run of four years in London. Lord Fancourt Babberly, the fake aunt, was played by Howard Harrison and Ella Delahay his romantic interest was played by Ruth Hodson. Jack Chesney and Charlie Wykeman two college pals of Lord Fancourt who tricked him into disguising as Charlie's Aunt so as to keep Kitty and Amy there, were played by Bob Sieloff and Wesley Smith.

Adelphian Music Club

THE Adelphian Music Society was organized the spring of 1937, for the purpose of giving music a more important place in the activities of the college. It has been the aim of this organization to study all kinds of music at its meetings such as opera; works of the classical and modern composers; light opera; folk songs, including cowboy songs, and negro spirituals; and the modern popular music.

Some of the other functions of the society are to advertise and manage any musical production given by the College Glee club. Also the club plans to sponsor musical concerts by outside musicians in order that the student may hear better music.

The meetings are open to anyone who is interested in the programs. However, those wishing to become members are asked to pay a small fee of twenty-five cents a semester as dues.

Officers are elected each semester. The officers for the first semester were: president, Esther May Weesner; vice president, Ruth Coppock; secretary, Vera Hicks; treasurer, Wayne Tate; social committee chairman, Alfreda Martin; faculty adviser, Miss Esther Allen. The last semester the following officers were elected: president, Ivan Makinster; vice president, Irene Swanson; secretary, Ruth Coppock; treasurer, Dave Riehle; social committee chairman, Miss Esther Allen; marshal, Wilbur Bushong; faculty adviser, Mr. Earl Wagner.

Athletics

A large share of the responsibility for turning out athletic teams rests on the shoulders of Professors Lois McCurley, Emmet Gulley, and Hal Chapman. Miss McCurley has completed her first year as Director of women's athletics. In the fall of the year she introduced archery to the women students. Among the other women's athletics were volleyball, basketball, and baseball. In the men's division are football, basketball and baseball. These are all participated in by all students under the leadership of Hal Chapman, acting coach and Professor Emmet Gulley as athletic director.

Men's Athletic Association

THE Men's Athletic Association, which has a membership composed of all the men of the college, has become self-conscious in the past school year. A somewhat tangled treasury account has been straightened out and self confidence restored.

Football and basketball were sponsored, and the question about having baseball was answered by the baseball men themselves—baseball has been included, to fill a successful athletics season.

There have been two presidents and two vice-presidents this year. Orla Kendall elected president for '37-'38 was unable to attend school part of the first semester; his place was taken by Vice-President Harold Roberts. Roberts was unable to return for the second semester and the two vacancies were filled for the remainder of the term by Alfred Boyer and Jack Bennett. The other offices have been well filled by Don Mills and Verle Emry, secretary and treasurer; Everill Brolliar and Andy Hoptowit, football and basketball managers; Arney Houser, Lyle Barkman, Fred Ryan, and Joe Kycek, senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman class representatives.

A great deal of help was given during the football season by Dr. Thos. W. Hester and Lynn Ferguson who donated fifty-five dollars and twenty-five dollars, respectively, for the purchase of football equipment. The equipment was needed, and the football boys as well as the Men's Athletic Association are grateful for this splendid service.

Football

THIS year's football season at Pacific College has revealed a group of fellows who have shown a spirit of true sportsmanship and of fight that did not die though the odds went overwhelmingly against them.

The first game of the season resulted in a 0-0 tie against Reed College, Pacific College's traditional rival. Hal Chapman's "fighting squad" made its second annual 650 mile trip to Gooding, Idaho, to receive a severe trouncing of 36-0 in the hands of a much heavier and superior team. The season was ended by a 6-6 tie with Chemawa.

Coach Chapman was faced with another year of chronic illness in the lack of reserve power. Because of illness, injury, and ineligibility the entire strength of the squad was never in action at one time. However, Chapman has a good foundation to build a team for the coming year in the returning lettermen.

He lost three lettermen by graduation; Houser, tackle; Hoskins, center; Kendall, two year captain and a triple threat backfield man.

Women's Volleyball

WITH the assistance of Miss Lois McCurley, women's athletic instructor, Pacific College Co-eds, turned out in large numbers for Volleyball. This year's Freshman class displayed a much needed interest as seven of this year's team are members of the senior class some of whom have played three years.

As only four intercollegiate games were played, two with Reed College and two with Pacific University, five additional games were played with high schools, including Colton, Newberg and Amity.

Although the girls won but four out of the nine games, they played well and showed their usual brand of sportsmanship.

Those earning letters for this year are: Captain, Marjorie Miller; Manager, Hazel Williams; Dorothy Choate, Janet Jack, Dorothy Martin, Lucy Wilson, Corilda Stewart, Helen Schmeltzer, Gloria Kendall, Janet Phipps, and Lula Roberts.

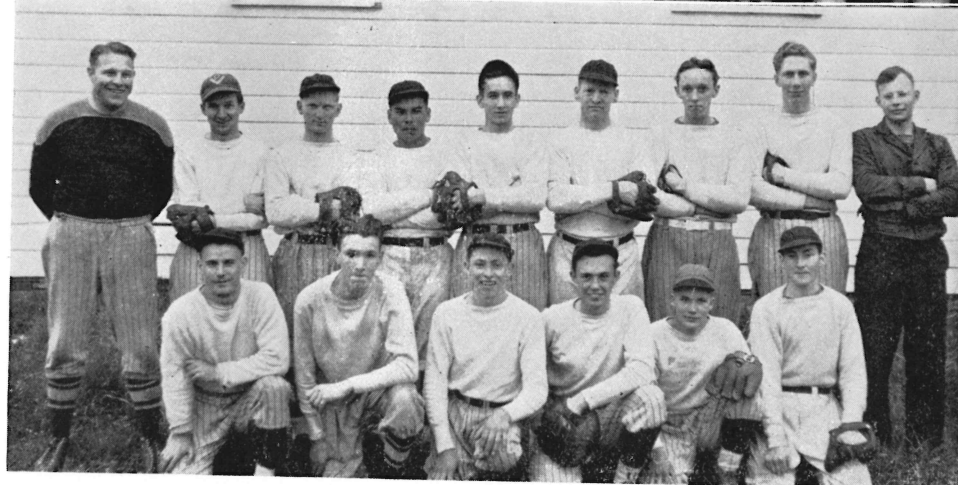

Women's Basketball

ALTHOUGH the first time in years, if ever, that Pacific College has had a women's inter-collegiate basketball team, much enthusiasm was shown with from twelve to fourteen girls turning out quite regularly.

The four college games that were played with Reed and Pacific University were lost with unmentionable scores, but the girls received valuable practice and before the end of the season could at least stand up for their own. We are looking forward to a better season next year and expect to go places in basketball, as Miss Lois McCurley, the coach played on her college team, and is very much interested in basketball.

Those earning basketball letters this year were: Vera Hicks, manager; guards, Lucille Barkman, Janet Phipps and Corilda Stewart; forwards, Betty Ferrell, Lucy Wilson, Dorothy Martin and Hazel Williams.

The boys cooperated well and the team wishes to thank them for making the games possible by their being score keepers, time keepers, and lending moral support.

Basketball

THIS year the Quaker basketball quintet with Hal Chapman at the helm won eleven out of twenty games during the season. The team in its twenty games piled up a total of 691 points against the 680 scored by its opponents.

Little Joe Kycek, who has been the steadfast forward this season, was high point man with a total of 234 counters. Broliar, Bennett, and Kellar who are Sophomores, and Haworth a Freshman, followed with 146; 140; 101; 54; respectively.

Two excellent guards were brought to light when the call for turnouts came. Charles and Wesley Smith played their first season under the Pacific College banner. These seven lettermen should all be back for at least two more years of service since they are all underclassmen.

Positions are as follows: Forwards, Kycek, Broliar, Haworth; center, Bennett; Guards, Kellar, W. Smith, and C. Smith.

Baseball

STARTING the 1938 Pacific College baseball season with only three returning lettermen has been a nightmare to Coach Chapman. With no reserve material and little or no financial aid the baseball team had anything but an optimistic outlook. Yet with a small turnout and some excellent pitching by Stan Kellar, Pacific has been well represented. The battery for Pacific has been Kellar pitching and Mills catching. Chuck Smith held down the sack at first with Buck Davis and Lawrence Balch on second and third. Clyde Winchester played the shortstop position with Fritz Ryan, Arza Davis and Andy Hoptowit holding down the outfield positions. Most of the boys will be back next year and this fact will give Pacific a fairly strong team.

Bruin Lives Again

EVERY three weeks of the school year, on Fridays between the hours of noon and five o'clock, a stranger who happens to be visiting the campus might notice a flurry of action between certain groups of students on the campus. Be not alarmed dear Friend because this scene of apparent discontent is staged in defense of that well known sawdust stuffed bear, Bruin Junior.

Perhaps a glimpse over the traditions at Pacific College may bring to light some interesting facts concerning the affair. A number of years ago the students of Pacific possessed a bear — a live bear mind you, as mascot of the college. Whether the bear died of old age or was killed because of meanness, is a musty legend about which people know very little. At any rate the bear was skinned and the hide became the trophy of the class which was clever enough to keep it from all contenders.

When the skin became too dilapidated a teddy bear was substituted in its place. Class fights became so common that the practice of using the trophy was discontinued after some severe property damage had occurred. This year the newly organized Pep Club made a rag doll in an attempt to revive and promote class competition. However, the doll was too fragile, being torn limb from bush in the first fracas. The senior class, in whose possession the doll was at the time, remade the trophy into a canvas teddy bear stuffed with sawdust. It is in this form that Bruin Junior now exists. Being in possession of the sophomores at the close of school. When the Bruin first appeared, such rapid action occurred that the faculty had to take certain precautions to protect school property. A set of rules governing the action of students when in contest over the Bruin has been formulated and all students are requested to abide by them.

Jack Bennett: How's business?

Joe Kycek: Good! I'm as busy as a can opener in a kitchenette.

Dorothy Martin: Why is it, Hazel, that every time I come in here I find you sleeping?

Hazel Williams: Well, you see it's this way: I don't like to be a-doing nothing.

Wayne Parsons: But I don't think I deserve an absolute flunk.

Mr. Macy: Neither do I, but it is the lowest mark that I am allowed to give.

Brock Dixon: What kind of girls do you like best—blondes or brunettes?

Wayne Burt: Personally I like blondes—they're easier to find when you're playing hide-and-seek.

Editor's Appreciation

IT is with the deepest gratitude that I wish to thank those members of the L'Ami staff who have so graciously given their time and assistance to make this publication possible. Especially to Miss Emma Kendall who has acted as a most capable adviser.

Harrassed by financial difficulties and a late start this staff has labored toward the production of the 1938 yearbook.

Considerable appreciation should be given to those business men whose willingness to lend financial assistance has made this publication a reality.

Sincerely,
